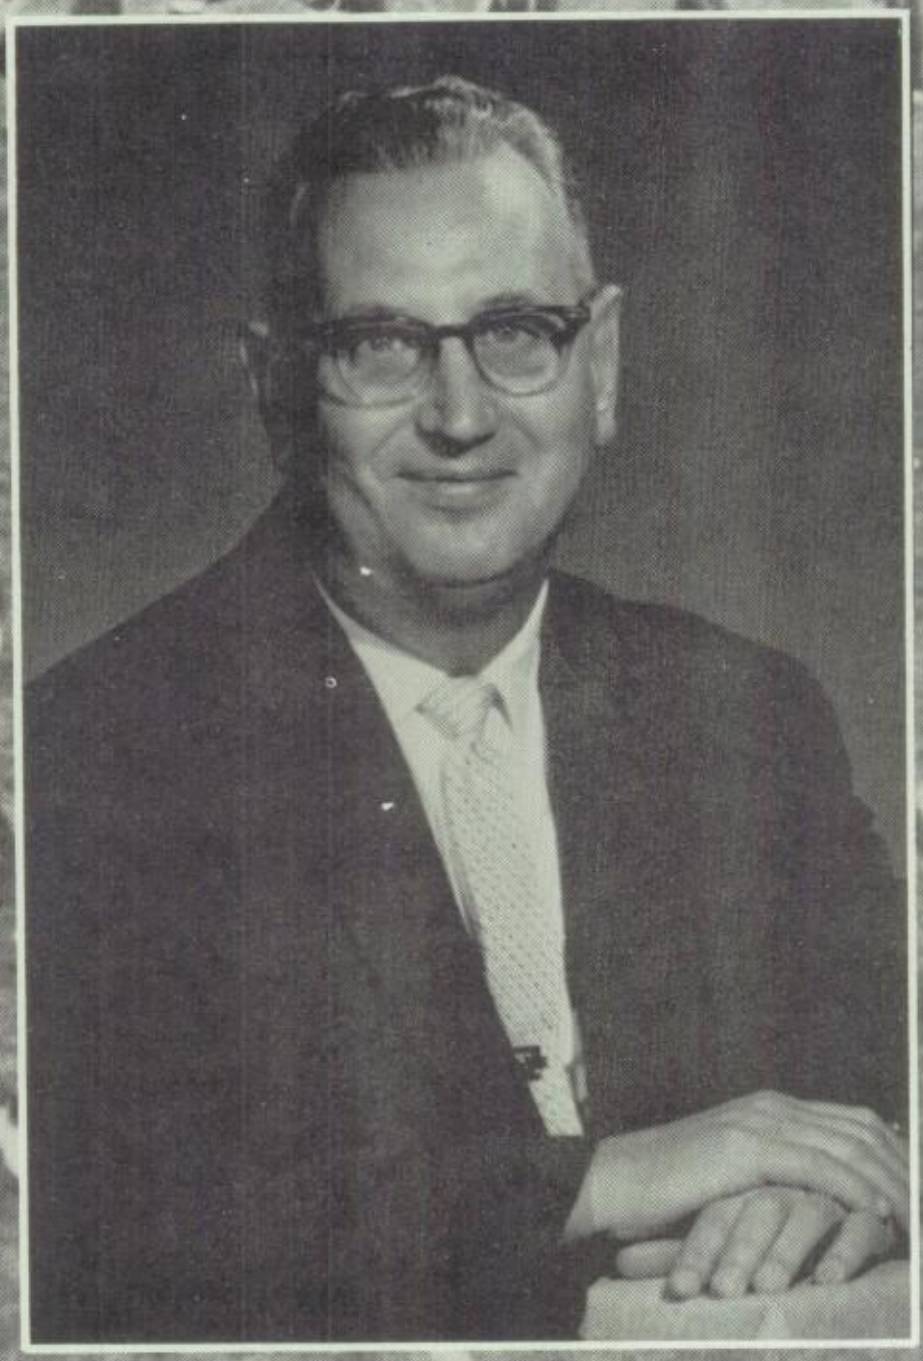
ANNA RADIATES ENTHUSIASM

Anna and her American 'sister' Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Low with whom she resided, became fast friends.

Writing to her pen pals all over the world occupied much of Anna's time because she enjoyed receiving the many replies.

Teaching methods and curriculum were a great change for Anna, but she adjusted rapidly.

WE WILL ALWAYS REMEMBER MR. EVANS



Few words could express the sorrow and sense of loss felt by the student body and faculty Monday, Jan. 13 when they learned that instrumental music instructor David J. Evans had succumbed after a sudden heart attack. With his death Perry lost not only a fine teacher, but also a wonderful person.

Mr. Evans had participated in many activities for the betterment of the band and the school. He supported the school in all aspects: musical, athletic, dramatic and scholastic. He did an immeasurable amount of work for his band students.

Coming to Perry on Jan. 22, 1951, Mr. Evans served as instructor of the school band as well as of the municipal band. Teaching a total of 29 years, he had also served at Kahoka, Mo.; Farmington, Allerton, Central City and Guthrie Center, Iowa.

Mr. Evans was past president of the Central Iowa Bandmasters, past president of the Iowa Bandmasters, and a member of the America School Band Directors' Association.

In addition to these he was associated with the Iowa State Educational Association, Iowa Music Education, National Education Association and the Music Educators National Convention.

Mr. Evans was truly an asset to the community and he will be remembered for many years for all the beneficial projects he carried out.

PLAYERS DRAMATIZE COMEDIES AND CLASSIC

"The Servant of Two Masters", the fall play directed by Margaret N. Crouch, was an 18th Century classic and hilarious comedy done in the commedia dell'arte style. Rick Fazel, the servant Tuffaldino, is shown making a grand entrance in front of his beloved, Pat Dougan, with the help of the Zanies (Kent Taylor, Roger Bys, Rick Ridihalgh and Randy Crouch.) Others in the play were Doug Smalley, Linda Bennett, Connie Fouch, Tom Schirman, Mike and Gary Haynes, Don Nichols and Susan Ervin.

Another project of the junior-senior activity speech class was the puppet theater. Various members presented puppet skits, while ambitious puppeters Kim Lauridsen and Elaine Marshall created their own puppets, that of "Witch Baba Yaga" and "The Merry-Go-Round Man" respectively.

REALM OF ACTIVITIES IS VARIED

Dianna Brown and Nancy Haas, shown below, are four year letterwinners who helped the team to state competition for three years.

High as a bird" might be the phrase used to describe the flight of Linda Jackovich's ball as she retrieves it from a tree.

Other four year members of the golf squad were Bob Bruce shown at the left, and Bill Rubin on the right. Bill shot an 84 at the State Tournament at the Woodside course this year.

Medalist throughout most of his high school golf career was four year golf letterwinner Terry Lester. He also competed in the Iowa Junior Tournament in Iowa City.

Thespian officers for 1963-64 were seniors Rick Fazel, vice-president; Mike Haynes, president and Harry Reid, treasurer.

Thespian initiation proved an ordeal for sophomore Gary Haynes who was chosen to swallow a raw egg.

Making his last high school appearance as the miser in the contest play "The Miser" was senior Rick Fazel. Rick was awarded the best actor award two consecutive years at Drake Play Festival, a feat rarely accomplished by any high school student.

The Drama Department also set a record at the Festival by winning a superior rating for the fifth consecutive year.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS--Row One: Ned Willis, Clyde Dills and Diana Haas. Row Two: Bob Phillips, Gene Smith and Jack Whiton.

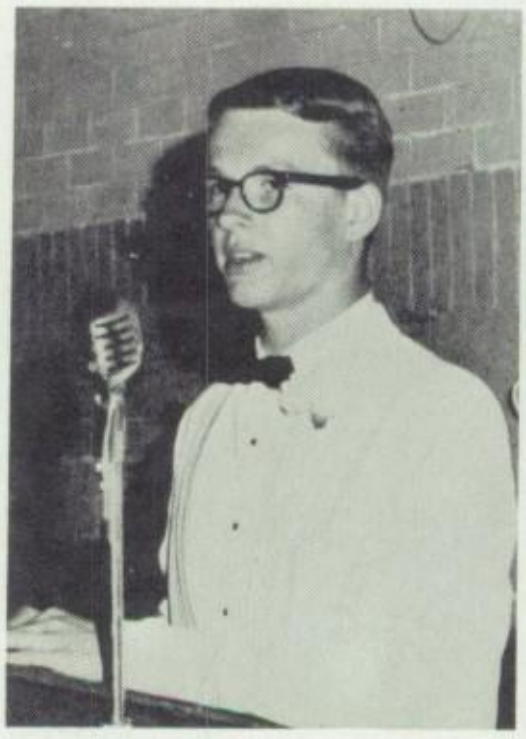
SENIORS RELIVE "MOMENTS TO REMEMBER"

Junior class president Bob Wheelwright (near right) welcomed the '64 seniors as well as the faculty and juniors to the annual banquet.

"I can speak for the seniors when I say that we appreciate all the work the parents, servers and school have done to prepare this banquet and to make our night a memorable one," said senior class president Harry Reid in the response (far right).



The 1964 Junior-Senior Prom, held at the Methodist Church, brought back many memories in its theme, "Moments to Remember". Nancy Haas was reminded of the time she ran into the shower after physical education her sophomore year, only to discover that the janitor was already there-- changing the soap. Robbie Naylor relived the embarrassing moment when her card costume fell off during the "Alice in Wonderland" production and revealed her black tights underneath. Also, Bill Rubin was reminded of the time he dressed up like Jackie Kennedy for Thespian initiation and stood on main street for an hour. Such memories increased the gaiety of the night, but at the same time reminded the seniors that their high school days would soon be added to this list of memories.

Ruth Evans and Ron McHone, both seniors, exemplify the formality and happiness of Prom night.

"Remember when 42 freshmen (seniors now) piled into the restroom in the cafetorium?" "Also, won't it seem funny not to see the rock in front of the school change from to '64 to '65 and back again every week-end?" Such moments were remembered in Rick Fazel's speech.

"Something to Remember us By", the class will, was read by Susan Ervin. Left to the juniors by the entire senior class was the secret on how to pass American Problems. However, the seniors retorted, 'First, Tell us."

PARENTS PRESENT COTILLION BALL AS LAST TRIBUTE TO SENIORS

Many parents helped decorate the armory for the Junior-Senior Prom. Here Virginia Marshall gives directions to a helper. Mrs. Marshall is the mother of junior Elaine Marshall. Over-all directors were Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Lester, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Millhollin.

"Smile, please" were the directions given by the photographer. Subjects Pat Dougan and Denny Skinner had no trouble, since they were given some prompting in the background.

Rick Hollingsworth and Mary Knosby take time out from the music provided by the Esquires to rest their weary feet and the night's festivities had just begun. Extra entertainment besides dancing, pictures and refreshments was the game room. Many lucky people skilled at the art of ring toss won prizes.

DANCE COMMENCES ALL-NIGHT PARTY FOR STUDENTS

Senior Bob Bruce and junior Judy Heck appear to be enjoying both the dance and each other's company.

Bill Rubin finally received his wish to have his picture taken- and he looked nice.

As usual Anna Katri is having a wonderful time. Her escort, Bob Wheelwright, also is enjoying himself. Anna said she especially liked the dance Jane Rausch, sophomore, did for part of the entertainment at the Prom.
